International Training Course on Sufficiency Economy in Microfinance for SMEs Development

1. Background

The Sufficiency Economy Philosophy (SEP) was introduced in 1974 by His Majesty the late King Bhumibol Adulyadej. The SEP is a framework that the His Majesty of Thailand guides people to live and execute in a suitable means to build a secured foundation. The philosophy consists of three attributes and two conditions that need to be implemented collectively at any time amidst the changing world in order to meet the requirements for sufficiency economy and to save and survive from crises. These interconnected and interdependent pillars, so-called "three rings - Moderation, Reasonableness and Self-Immunity" and the two conditions on knowledge and integrity which will lead to progress of economy / society / environment / culture in a balanced, stable and sustainable way.

The concept of SEP aligns with many goals and targets across the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Goals - SDGs including poverty eradication, food security, sustainable economic growth, sustainable industrialization and sustainable consumption and production, sustainable community development, income generation for poor, microcredit and microfinance for Small and Medium-sized Enterprises (SMEs)<sup>1</sup>.

In most of the countries, SMEs are the backbone of the country's economic growth accounting for over 97 percent of the enterprises, with 20 percent to 50 percent of the GDP share. However, SMEs' growth is often aggravated by factors such as limited access to business information, lack of finance and human capital, low capacity in production and inadequate knowledge in crossborder trade and investment. Among all these factors, SMEs are mostly trapped by the limits to access to credits.

Bank lending is always regarded as the most common source of external finance for many SMEs and entrepreneurs, leading to their heavy reliance on to run the enterprises, manage cash flow and meet investment needs. Based on the OECD's findings<sup>2</sup>, bank financing may be ill-suited at specific stages in the firm life cycle, particularly for the cases of start-ups and SMEs depend on intangibles business models. In some of the Colombo Plan developing member countries, SMEs' struggle to finance is also conducive to the countries' economic downturns, stagnant property, inventories and falling profits. In other words, they are more vulnerable to financial instability.

As a result of these capital gaps, SMEs are seeking more alternatives to meet their financial needs. One response is the development of microfinance. Rather than simply distributing charity funds, microfinance provides the poor individuals and SMEs with the opportunities to gain entrepreneurship, to alleviate poverty for economic growth. Dating back to the 1950s and with experiments in Bangladesh, Indonesia and other countries since 1970s, microfinance schemes have been proven to be effective to assist people in pursuing better living standards through Nobel Peace Prize awardee-Muhammad Yunus of the Grameen Bank in Bangladesh has visibly demonstrated the emphasis given to this approach. Moreover, some developing countries in the Asia Pacific region like Thailand have already tapped the power of microfinance for SMEs by creating new type of financial licenses through specialized Microfinance Institutions (MFIs).

In this context, Mekong Institute (MI), in collaboration with the Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building
